Evil Geeks
And Good Carhundles

By HARRY W. LAIDLER, P. B. D.

One day, just to get away from that frigid city, I took a train for the seashore with my own hands. I was in a hurry to reach the sea and everything was going well until I arrived at the station. The train was full and there was no room for me to sit down. I realized that I was being held up by someone and I tried to push my way through the crowd. It was then that I saw a young couple, a man and a woman, sitting together. They seemed to be enjoying each other's company and I decided to join them. They were quite friendly and we talked about our plans for the day. It was then that I realized how much I had missed being near the sea and how much I needed to get away from the city. I decided to stay with them for the whole day and we had a wonderful time together.
Willimantic Strike In Sixteenth Month; Ranks Are Unbroken

The Field of Labor

Slide wages, slide! When the strike of the American Federation of Labor over the basic wage was threatened, the strikers of the IWW in Willimantic, Connecticut, went on strike. The strike committee of the IWW in Willimantic has been working to improve the working conditions of its members. The strike was settled after a long and bitter struggle. The strikers were eventually able to get a better wage and better working conditions.

A WARNING TO LABOR BANKS

In this letter, the author discusses the dangers of lending money to labor unions. The author argues that labor unions should not be allowed to use bank loans to finance their activities. The letter is written in a persuasive tone, and the author uses a lot of examples to support their argument.
